Summary Paragraph

Cacapon State Park includes 6,115 acres in Morgan County that spans West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle in the northeastern corner of the state. The park includes Cacapon Mountain and the Cacapon River to its west. The majority of the developed areas of the park are east of Cacapon Mountain and west of US Route 522, accessed by the main entrance road. Numerous streams meander through the park. Cacapon Lake, near the main park entrance, was created by a dam built by the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC). The highest point in the park is 2,320 feet. Trails and roads access scenic overlooks. Wooded areas are generally mixed hardwood and pine. Though some roads from the neighboring community of Rock Gap do enter the park, the primary road network branches out from the main entrance, serving the cabin areas and leading to an overlook and trail along Cacapon Mountain. The trail network also is largely contained between Cacapon Mountain and the main entrance.

Narrative Description

Large portions of Cacapon State Park are undeveloped. The central area is accessed by the main entrance and entrance road. The entrance road leads northwest into the park and then divides to service the lake area to the south; the administrative area to the north; the lower, middle fork, and north fork cabin areas to the west; the Batt picnic area to the southwest; and ultimately to a juncture at the far southwest with the trail that extends north along the ridge of Cacapon Mountain.

Streams meander through this central, developed section of the park crossed by traffic and pedestrian bridges. Cacapon Lake was formed by a stream dam. The eastern sections of the developed area tend to be partially cleared with increasing woods to the west toward the Batt Picnic Area and Middle and North Fork Cabin Areas.

The narrative description that follows describes the park in terms of the areas as described above.

8. Statement of Significance

Applicable National Register Criteria

(Mark "x" in one or more boxes for the criteria qualifying the property for National Register listing.)

- ☒ A Property is associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history.
- ☐ B Property is associated with the lives of persons significant in our past.
- ☒ C Property embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction or represents the work of a master, or possesses high artistic values, or represents a significant and distinguishable entity whose components lack individual distinction.
- ☐ D Property has yielded, or is likely to yield, information important in prehistory or history.

Criteria Considerations

(Mark "x" in all the boxes that apply.)

Property is:

- ☐ A Owned by a religious institution or used for religious purposes.
- ☐ B removed from its original location.
- ☐ C a birthplace or grave.
- ☐ D a cemetery.
- ☐ E a reconstructed building, object, or structure.
- ☐ F a commemorative property.
- ☐ G less than 50 years old or achieving significance within the past 50 years.

Statement of Significance Summary Paragraph (Provide a summary paragraph that includes level of significance and applicable criteria.)

The New Deal Resources in Cacapon State Park Historic District is associated with the New Deal Resources in West Virginia State Parks and Forests Multiple Property Listing. Cacapon State Park was developed in partnership with the federal government through construction by the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) and design counsel from the National Park Service (NPS). The Cacapon State Park historic district is associated with the following historic contexts as listed in the New Deal Resources in West Virginia State Parks and Forests Multiple Property Listing: State Park and Forest Development in West Virginia, 1933-1942; New Deal Federal Relief Programs in West Virginia State Parks and Forests, 1933-1942; Rustic Style Architecture in West Virginia State Parks and Forests, 1933-1942; and Landscape Design and Landscape Management in West Virginia State Parks and Forests, 1933-1942. The historic district is significant at the state level under Criteria A in the areas for Social/History, Politics/Government, Conservation, and Entertainment/Recreation for its association with New Deal federal work relief programs, with conservation programs that were a partnership between federal and state government implemented through the CCC, and with recreational development in the state of West Virginia. The historic district is significant under Criterion C for Architecture for its rustic architecture as designed and carried out by the CCC and for its landscape planning designed with assistance from the NPS. The period of significance, 1934-1941, is the tenure of the CCC Camp Morgan (SP-4).

General Landscape

Cacapon State Park was designed with assistance from the National Park Service (NPS). Figures 1-5 show the careful mapping of the area, noting topography. Roads, trails, buildings and landscaping were all carefully considered and sited. The roads which were originally dirt with crushed limestone are now paved. All save the new road to the golf club house are CCC built. Along these roads are stone culvert heads, also thought to be CCC built. There are six vehicular bridges with stone abutments and piers along the road system built by the CCC-- at the entrance to the North Fork Cabin area, on the road to the Middle Fork Cabin area, above the turnoff to the main cabin area, southwest of the tennis courts, on the main road directly opposite the Old Inn, and on the main road east of the road to the bathhouse.

In addition to vehicular circulation, the CCC built hiking trails. According to an earlier survey (Gioulis, 2008), two of the historic trails are gone but the Ziler Trail, Ziler Loop Trail, Central Trail, Laurel Trail, Tower Trail and Ridge Trail remain. These packed dirt trails are generally 3' wide. The Ziler Trail ascends to the west in a series of switchbacks toward the western side of the Ziler Loop Trail along the ridge of Cacapon Mountain. The Central Trail loops around the Middle and North Fork Cabin areas. The Tower Trail leads west from near the administrative area to Piney Ridge. The Ridge Trail circles around the lake area.

The CCC also managed the circulation of the water systems within the park with stone stream dams, of which there are three--one on the south fork of Indian Run; one on the Middle Fork of Indian Run; and one on the North Fork of Indian Run (Photo 18).

The developed part of Cacapon that is attributed to the CCC occupies approximately 2,500 acres within the center of the long, narrow district boundary. Densely forested, undeveloped natural areas lacking any amenities occupy the land to the north and south, with approximately 2,400 acres to the north and 1,200 to the south.

The park lies across two topographic areas, the Mountain Area west of Cacapon Mountain and the Ridge Area to the east. The mountain ridge that includes Cacapon Mountain forms a spine along the western side of the park. At the southern end the park boundaries extend slightly to the east and west of the ridge. Within the park are outcroppings of Oriskany sandstone. The forest system within the park is largely deciduous. The areas outside the developed area of the park exhibit rolling topography, rock outcroppings, and forested areas.

At the main entrance to the park are large stone piers with retaining walls (Photo 1) and a stone contact station on the north side of the entrance drive (Photo 2). Once within the park, a south turn from the main entrance road services the lake area and bathhouse. There is a stone water fountain at the contact station and a stone retaining wall.

Lake Area

The tributaries of Indian Run were dammed to form Cacapon Lake for recreational purposes. The dam is a stone core dam with a stone spillway (Photo 6). A stone pedestal/column stands on the north side of the lake. Set above the lake, to the southeast is the massive Lake Bathhouse (Photo 8, Figures 6-8) which looms above the lake. The parking area at the bathhouse has CCC stonework, and CCC era light fixtures illuminate the lot and the path to the bathhouse. The bathhouse is built on a slope and has large interior spaces on the main level. The locker rooms and showers in the lower level open on to a stone terrace with stone steps descending to the lake and beach (Photo 9). West of the lake is a collection of recreational assets including the rustic lake picnic shelter (Photo 7), boat house, comfort station, game courts, a playground, fireplaces, water fountains and benches. The main entrance road loops around these resources and divides them from the lower cabin area to the west and administrative area to the north. South of the lake the park is lightly wooded, but the lake area is fairly clear and the area west of the lake, within the loop drive, is generally level.

Administrative Area

North of the lake area is an administrative area which also includes the modern (1956) Lodge and golf course. This area includes the Old Inn (Photo 19, Figures 10-13) which stands along the main entrance road. A series of service buildings are set along the east side of a road extending to the north. These include the park headquarters (Photo 22), the superintendent's residence (Photo 23, Figures 14-16), the riding stables (Photo 24), the main supply house (Photo 25), the tool shed, the laundry building (barracks), the incinerator and the float exhibit. The Old Inn is built of log construction with large stone chimneys. It has stone retaining walls in its curtilage. The other buildings are generally frame and clad in fletcher siding, painted brown. Though also rustic, these buildings are more stripped down and utilitarian than the log structures. The incinerator is built of stone, likely for its fireproof qualities. The float exhibit, a small-scale example of a log cabin was built by the CCC as a display and to be used in parades. The main supply house is similar in design to those at Watoga and Babcock State Parks.

Lower Cabin Area

The main entrance road forks and the northern road that climbs west up Cacapon Mountain services the lower cabin area and proceeds to the north fork cabin area. The lower cabin area contains eighteen cabins, including CCC cabins 24-29 (Photos 20 & 21). Cabins 24-29 are all 4-person cabins with stone foundations and fletcher siding. A springhouse (Photo 10) and dynamite shed are also found in this vicinity.

North Fork Cabin Area

This cabin area, at the northwest portion of the developed area, has five rustic cabins, numbers 8-12 (Photos 16 & 17). All are of log construction with stone foundations and stone chimneys. There are two 2-person cabins, two 3-person cabins and a 6-person cabin. The North Fork Cabin Area also has a CCC era playground.

Middle Fork Cabin Area

Just south of the North Fork Cabin Area is the Middle Fork Cabin Area. It has a small loop road around which are arranged seven cabins, numbers 1-7 (Photos 12-15). All have stone foundations and chimneys. Cabins 2-7 are log construction and cabin 1 has fletcher siding. Cabins 1-3 are 4-person cabins; Cabin 4 is a 6-person cabin; Cabins 5 and 7 are 2-person cabins; and Cabin 6 is a 3-person cabin. The Middle Fork Cabin Area also has a CCC era playground.

Batt Picnic Area

At the southwest part of the developed area is the Batt Picnic Area. The rustic Batt Picnic Shelter (Photo 11) has a flagstone floor and stone foundation. The shelter is made of log construction and has a large stone chimney and flagstone rear patio. There is a small footbridge with a modern deck on historic stone supports at the north end of the picnic area. The area has twelve stone fireplaces, 3 stone water fountains and a stone retaining wall at the parking lot.

Resource Inventory

The following inventory of CCC resources includes a resource number, resource name and West Virginia survey number (aka Historic Property Inventory [HPI] site number), a construction date, a status for each resource type, and a resource count for multiple resources of similar design and construction. Resources were considered contributing if they were built by the CCC and retained sufficient integrity to communicate their historic appearance.

Resource No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5

Resource Name: Entrance and Area Signage Piers (MN-0178)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Object

Count: 5 (sets)

The main entrance has large stone piers/columns that hold wooden brackets with metal signs and that extend with retaining walls that flank the entrance. The south pier and wall at the main entrance have been reconstructed. Four additional sets of stone piers that flank roadways are found at the road to the lake beach and bathhouse; on the road to the Middle Fork Cabin area; at the head of the road to the stables; and at the North Fork Cabin area. The stones are roughly dressed, and the piers are set in irregular coursing.

Resource No. 6

Resource Name: Contact Station (MN-0179)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Building

Count: 1

This rustic, one-story, end- gable building has an asphalt shingle roof with a large exposed stone chimney on the rear. It is built of roughly coursed stone masonry with fletcher siding in gable end. The 6 pane wood windows have stone sills. The end gable projects to form an entrance/porch with stone columns and an enclosed stone balustrade with scrolled wood brackets. The rear of building originally had rest rooms. There is a flagstone walk and short retaining wall in parking area next to building. It is 1 X 2 bays and measures 16' 8" X 23'.

Resource No. 7, 8

Resource Name: Culvert heads (MN-0180)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Structures

Count: 2

The culvert heads are located throughout the park, except for the area that encompasses the new golf course (resource #137). Although an early site plan or map of the park identifying specific locations of culverts has not been discovered, it is assumed they are located mainly on the road to the Overlook and on the cabin access roads. The dry-stacked stone culvert heads with concrete pipes are no longer being maintained, so they no longer serve their original purpose. With deterioration, several have begun to look more like random rubble. However, two culverts were documented by Hanbury in the 2017-2018 survey as retaining sufficient integrity to count as contributing structures. They are noted on Map #13 of the series of Sketch Maps.

Resource No. 9, 10, 11

Resource Name: Stream dams (MN-0181)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Structures

Count: 3

There are three stone stream dams: one on the south fork of Indian Run; one on the Middle Fork of Indian Run; and one on the North Fork of Indian Run. The most intact example is to the south of the new lodge. Originally these feeder streams provided water for use throughout the park, but this is no longer the case.

Count: 6

There are six historic car bridges located in the park. The bridges have stone abutments in the streams with stone piers and wooden rails along the roadway. They can be found at the entrance to the North Fork Cabin area, on the road to the Middle Fork Cabin area, above the turnoff to the main cabin area, southwest of the tennis courts, on the main road directly opposite the Old Inn, and on the main road east of the road to the bathhouse.

Resource No. 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23

Resource Name: Hiking Trails (MN-0183)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Structures

Count: 6

There are about 27 miles of hiking trails throughout the park. Two historic trails are no longer extant; however, six historic trails remain: Ziler Trail, Ziler Loop Trail, Central Trail, Laurel Trail, Tower Trail and Ridge Trail. In general, the trails are about 3' wide and packed dirt.

Resource No. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36

Resource Name: Playgrounds/Benches (MN-0184)

Construction Date: 1935

Status: Contributing Structures; Contributing Objects

Count: 3 (Structures) & 10 (Objects)

Cacapon is the only state park/forest known to still have the original CCC playground equipment. Playgrounds (3) are located at: the North Fork Cabin area, includes a swing set and a see-saw; the Middle Fork Cabin area, which includes a swing set and a see-saw; in the main picnic area west of the lake which includes a swing set, a toddler swing set, a slide, a see-saw, monkey bars and a circular swing with metal center pole. There are seven (7) wood and metal benches located in the main picnic and play areas; and three (3) benches at the lake bathhouse.

These water fountains, some of which have steps, are square stone fountains. Some sit on flagstone pads, others on concrete pads. They measure roughly 3'6" tall and 3' wide. They are found at the following locations: one (1) at park entrance, next to Contact Station; one (1) at lake picnic shelter; one (1) in main play area by modern CCC shelter; one (1) at lake bathhouse; one (1) behind the ball field back stop; one (1) in main play area; one (1) in main picnic area in front of Nature Center; two (2) flanking the tennis courts; two (2) at the Batt Picnic Shelter; and one (1) inside the Batt Picnic Shelter. The water fountains are no longer operable. According to a park employee, they used to provide water from the local springs, but health regulations no longer allow untreated water to be used in the water fountains

Despite some changes, Cacapon State Park retains its overall, original New Deal-era landscape design. The park's 6,115 acres - situated across two topographic areas, the Mountain Area west of Cacapon Mountain and the Ridge Area to the east - are primarily covered with forests of native hard- and softwood trees, both deciduous and coniferous. The areas outside of the developed area of the park exhibit rolling topography, rock outcroppings, and forested areas. Since the 1930s, these natural undeveloped areas (approximately 4,900 combined acres) north and south of the CCC-developed area have been actively managed using standard forestry practices. Cacapon retains its CCC road network, trail network, bridges, lake, and streams with CCC built dams, all designed to be rustic and unobtrusive. Native stone quarried in the area is used for steps, walls and terraces. Buildings and structures are built in a rustic style dubbed "parkitecture" using native stone and logs to blend into the natural setting of the park. These resources have been carefully maintained by the park to preserve the naturalistic elements of the CCC/NPS design tenets of the 1930s.

Narrative Statement of Significance

Cacapon State Park, prior to 1934

The area around what is now Cacapon State Park is rich in mineral resources including Oriskany sandstone and mineral waters. The name "Cacapon" derives from a native American word meaning "medicine waters" and the region around the park is noted for its warm springs. West Virginia's Game and Fish Commission began to consider a system of state parks as early as 1925 and in 1927 made recommendations to the state legislature for the purchase of specific parcels. The state of West Virginia purchased the land that became Cacapon State Park around 1933. Like most of the land in the area, poor farming practices and clear-cut timbering had left the land degraded, thus it was an inexpensive purchase. Though it is unclear if the initial intent was to develop the land for recreation, plans quickly evolved to create a park with the establishment of Camp Morgan.

The New Deal era at Cacapon

As part of the New Deal, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt combined the creation of jobs to spur the economy with programs to invest in public infrastructure across the nation. One focus of these programs was to create parks and recreation resources for the public. While the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), created in 1933, had a mission to address flood control, prevent soil erosion, manage forestry, and other broad environmental policies, it also worked to create public recreational assets. The CCC's efforts in Cacapon State Park addressed both environmental and tourism goals.

G. H. Overholt, secretary of the State Conservation Commission, outlined the state/federal partnership in 1935 when delivering a study and request for appropriation to the West Virginia Legislature. "After the state acquires the land the federal government will develop the tract to a certain point, then it will be turned back to the state for maintenance. Without the aid of the federal government we would have a greater burden in developing our scenic spots."¹

According to Milton Harr, the CCC camp at what is now Cacapon State Park was SP-4, Camp Morgan. The "SP" indicated that the camp was operated on state-owned land under the aegis of the Division of State Parks of the Conservation Commission, later the Division of Parks and Recreation of the West Virginia Department of Nature Resources. Nine of these camps were authorized and eight established including those at what are now Watoga State Park, Lost River State Park, and Babcock State Park.

Camp Morgan was built by CCC Company 1523 who had been transferred from Camp Little Fork in Pendleton County where they had been working under the U.S. Forest Service in the George Washington National Forest, building roads, fighting fires, and surveying and improving timber stock. Camp Morgan is located in what is now the lower cabin area. The camp was established in October 1934 and was closed between July and October 1941.

A sketch by a CCC supervisor, Paul D. Myers, of the camp is reproduced in Michael Gioulis' 2008 New Deal Historic Resource Survey (Figure 20). It shows a road leading west from US 522 which turns south, east and north to create a circuit. Outside of the circuit, to the west, are a blacksmith shop, a truck storage garage, a repair shop, a supply room and a fuel storage building. Within the ring road is a walkway from east to west. North of the walk are a bathhouse and toilets, the foreman quarters, army quarters and a drafting room. South of the walk are four barracks, a parade ground/ballfield and a combination canteen/recreation hall.

The CCC was responsible for building roads, trails, cabins, picnic shelters and other amenities. They built the Old Inn, which was the first lodge in West Virginia's park system. All logs, stone and sand for construction was sourced locally. In 1936, plans for the dam to create Cacapon lake were approved by the state Public Service Commission. In the spring of that year, some of the men at Camp Morgan were sent to Harper's Ferry to assist with flood rehabilitation and develop park areas near the waterfront. Despite this temporary reassignment, in May 1936, an article in The Charleston Daily Mail reported that Cacapon State Park was nearly complete.

On June 13, 1937 The Charleston Daily Mail published a large article in anticipation of the park opening replete with details about the facility. It reported, "all (12) cabins will have hot and cold running water indoor toilets and large open fireplaces...All cabins are wired for electricity and the current will be turned on at all (of them)."² It continued, "In the rental will be provided these things without extra cost: Logs and other wood fuel for the fireplace; sheets, pillowcases and blankets, pots and pans silverware chinaware; towels (tea hand and bath); 50-pound all felt mattresses and covers on coil springs and all heavy furniture such as beds, tables, chest of drawers, rockers, chairs, stoves, etc. All doors and windows are screened. Curtains will be provided."³

At that time, visitors who wished to swim could drive to nearby Sleepy Creek though fishing and boating were available onsite. Fish and game were stocked at the park. Horseback riding was not anticipated. The beauty of the area was touted, "The miles of hiking and nature trails and motor roads leading to unparalleled scenic views offer an added healthful diversion."⁴

The article's description of the many merits of the park concluded, "The many attractions and delightful physical features making these areas so attractive are not being listed in this issue for lack of space."⁵

The article advised readers that work at Cacapon and other parks was ongoing. "Construction by CCC enrollees in further developing the parks and in landscaping and improving various facilities already constructed will continue, not only through this summer, but probably for several summers to come. The parks are not a finished product like a brightly painted new toy, but sufficient facilities are complete so that the (conservation) commission feels the citizens of the state should be given the use of these areas in so far as possible."⁶

Cacapon and several other parks opened on July 1, 1937. As with other parks it was noted that "most of the cabins in the parks were constructed with federal funds and it was announced earlier this month that the men who supervised the federal projects had been retained as supervisors of the parks."⁷ In the case of Cacapon, Lynn Wilson was appointed to head the park.

Camp Morgan closed in 1941 and was one of the longest lasting CCC camps in the West Virginia system.

Cacapon State Park in the post-New Deal era

Cacapon State Park has continued to be a lynchpin of the state park system and is referred to as the "Emerald of the Eastern Panhandle." Perhaps its proximity to other attractions such as Berkeley Springs or because of ease of access from Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the metropolitan Washington D.C. area, it is often promoted and touted as representative of West Virginia's park system.

A 1953 article by John Nall in the Beckley Post-Herald, entitled "Cacapon State Park now Favorite Vacation Spot for People of Four States," provides a good description of the park in its third decade.

The first view of the park is one of rolling meadows with a mixed hardwood and pine forest climbing to a long knife-edge mountain top. Settling in a clean, open forest, the entrance to Cacapon is considered one of the most attractive in the east. A short distance from this is Cacapon's beautiful log inn, nestled in the edge of the forest, near the open meadows. With a lounging section dominated by a native stone fireplace and with an excellent pine-paneled dining room, the inn is almost as popular for bridge as it is for eating. And several guests, who prefer rooms to cabins, can be accommodated on the second floor.

Rustic cabins constructed of native logs but furnished with all modern facilities, are spread along the side of sprawling Cacapon mountain, situated with a lot of forest between each unit, the cabins offer real privacy...

One of the most appealing features of the cabins is the huge stone fireplace. After a day in the autumn sun, a day well mixed with archery, hiking the fall-painted trails, and perhaps climaxed with rowing and fishing, the finishing touch is a relaxed group around the blazing fireplace.

Within easy walking distance of the inn, Cacapon Lake is six acres of very clear spring water. Fully developed for swimming, the lower end of the lake features a native stone and log bathhouse, diving towers, and a broad expanse of white sand.

The picnic areas are well spaced in the forest and from these many scenic views stretch through the scattered oaks and across the lake to the dam and beach.

Ranging sharply from 825 feet to 2,300 feet Cacapon Park has both autoroads and foot trails that lead to many scenic overlooks.

The many well-kept hiking trail that wind throughout the park...will provide an abundance of fall color...⁸

Improvements have continued at Cacapon. In 1951 newspaper reported on plans for the construction of housing for rangers and the assistant superintendent. In 1955 the state explored new sources of funding for improvement. Newspapers reported that "In a precedent setting step, $690,00 of revenue bonds were sold this week...to finance a 50-room lodge, 11 new cabins, and other projects at Cacapon." ⁹The new lodge would have rooms, a dining room, a lobby, a lounge and recreation areas. The 11 new cabins would bring the total number to fifty. Conservation director Carl J. Johnson noted that the initial bonds issue was earmarked for Cacapon, "because that is the only park on which we have consistently been making some money."¹⁰ Plans were also developed at this point for a golf driving range and putting green

In June of 1956, Governor William C. Marland dedicated the new lodge and 11 deluxe cabins as part of a million-dollar expansion project. Newspaper articles covering the dedication cite tourism revenue and the need for expanded faculties to handle demand.

In 1973 the park added an 18- hole, Robert Trent Jones, Sr. (1906-2000) designed golf course. The nature center was added in the 1990s with the support of the nonprofit Cacapon Resort State Park Foundation. The history of the park and its association with the CCC is noted in a number of markers and plaques within the park.

Significance and Integrity

The Cacapon State Park historic district is associated with all four of the historic contexts described in the New Deal Resources in West Virginia State Parks and Forests Multiple Property Listing. Cacapon is significant for its association with State Park and Forest Development in West Virginia, 1933-1942 and the areas of significance of Conservation and Entertainment/Recreation. The state of West Virginia acquired the land for Cacapon State Park in 1933. CCC work on the site addressed recreational and conservation values including the construction of cabins and picnic areas, Cacapon lake, the Old Inn, bridges and stream dams and conservation such as fire management.

Cacapon State Park is significant for its association with New Deal Federal Relief Programs in West Virginia State Parks and Forests from 1933 to 1942 in the areas of Politics/Government and Social History. The CCC provided job training, employment, and income to participants during the Great Depression. Their work at Cacapon and elsewhere created public infrastructure including natural conservation projects, forestry programs, fire protection improvements, transportation resources through roads and trails, and recreational facilities. These investments not only served the CCC members and the public during the Depression but have continued to serve their communities and the nation at large to this day.

Cacapon's rustic style resources make it significant for its association with Rustic Style Architecture in West Virginia State Parks and Forests, 1933-1942 in the area of Architecture. Major features including the cabins, picnic shelters, bath house, and Old Inn are excellent examples of rustic "parkitecture" while the supply house, superintendent's residence and other service buildings exhibit the features of a stripped-down utilitarian version of the rustic aesthetic. Both promote the use of natural, local materials such as wood and stone, often roughly finished.

Cacapon State Park's overall landscape plan makes it significant under Landscape Design and Landscape Management in West Virginia State Parks and Forests, 1933-1942. Site plans designed with assistance of the National Park Service show thoughtful placement of buildings respecting topography and use of rough natural materials allowed buildings and structures to be unobtrusive and not detract from their natural setting and appearance, providing visual harmony. The continued management of the natural areas since the New Deal era reinforces both integrity and significance

The New Deal Resources in Cacapon State Forest Historic District retain integrity of location, design, setting, workmanship, feeling and association. Though some resources have had alterations of materials, the work has been done sensitively and the changes do not the impair their integrity to the extent that they are no longer National Register eligible.

General Statement of Archaeological Potential:

The historic district boundaries delineate an area that has been in continuous use for its mineral resources and mineral waters prior to the establishment of Cacapon State Park; however, the Period of Significance for the New Deal Resources in the Cacapon State Park Historic District is 1934-1941. Archaeological sites and/or remains, like those at the former CCC Camp Morgan, from this time period may be present and could provide important information valuable to the understanding and interpretation of this area within the larger context as articulated in the New Deal Resources in West Virginia State Parks and Forest Multiple Property Listing (1933-1942). Therefore, archaeological remains dating to the district's period of significance have the potential to be a component that could further add to the significance of this singularly vast resource. At this time, however, archaeological investigation falls outside of the scope of work; regardless, the archaeological potential of this resource should be considered in any future development or survey of the property.
